"Monte Carlo."

Comedians Grow Punnier

Just how the Winter Garden kept up to its highest standard last night every succeeding scene of "Doing Our Bit" proved. There was as usual abundant color in every episode and beauty abounded as it does in all the series of productions that have been put forward at this theatre. Most of the comedia possessed the particular advantage seing more entertaining than they have been at other times. This was especially true of Frank Tinhey. Possibly J. J. Mrs. Ryan had been in ill health for some time. She came recently from the Hyan estate in Virginia, and remained for a short time at the town house, 85s Pitth avenue. Then she went to the country home, where Dr. James F. Nagle was called a few days ago. A private chaplain, named by Cardinal Farley to thave charge of the chapel at the Ryan home, attended her.

Aside from her numerous church fourteen college schelarships for working girls and nine for working boys. The $1,000,000 cathedral at Richmond, Va., is one of the chief gifts of Mrs. Ryan to the church. Her body will be placed in a crypt in that edifice. She also supplied $1,000,000 for the Convent of Perpetual Adoration at Washington. Mrs. Ryan also maintained scores of hospitals, schools and chapels and home.

Ryan also maintained scores of hos-pitals, schools and chapels and homes for children and the infirm. Four rooms for telephone girls at St. Vincent's Hospital were maintained by her.
